

WORLD PORT Client Comments (Private/Corporate Events)

“World Port provides a variety of instrumental background music that any music lover can appreciate. People are quite taken by World Port and Paul Micich’s unique sounding electric horn — it draws you in to stop and listen. The different styles of music Paul creates are incredible!”

Pam Peterson, Education Assistant, Iowa Bankers Association, Johnston, Iowa

“Over the years, I've used Paul for a variety of events ranging from formal business receptions to informal social gatherings. Without exception, we always receive compliments from those in attendance on our choice of musicians. Not only does World Port’s unique electric horn provide the perfect background music for any function — it’s also just fun to watch.”

Steve Churchill, VP Marketing, Mid-America Group, LTD, a commercial real estate firm in West Des Moines, Iowa

“We’ve used World Port numerous times in varied venues and have never been disappointed. The guys are a pleasure to work with, professional, reliable and great musicians! I would recommend them without hesitation.”

Steve Hakeman, Advertising Promotion Department, Successful Farming Magazine

“We selected World Port for our open house event for a traveling retrospective of cutting-edge Dutch products from Droog design. Guests commented that the acoustics of the group were perfect, allowing easy conversation while at the same time enjoying the music. We also felt the sophisticated and unique sounds of the group were consistent with the products we represent. We continue to play their CDs for background music during typical workdays.”

Kelli Linnemeyer, President of Projects Contemporary Furniture, a showroom specializing in high design from Italy, France, Germany, Holland and Switzerland

“World Port is an excellent example of art expressed through music. The group, with Paul Micich playing his unique electronic horn. can adapt music to any audience and immediately establish a great rapport, providing excellent background dining music. Whether it's a company Christmas party, wedding reception, restaurant dining experience or cultural festival, World Port really knows how to set a mood.”

Jeffrey T. Johannsen, President of J. Thomas Inc., a holding corporation that has booked World Port for catering events

"I've always enjoyed listening to Paul Micich's music. In fact, he played at our son's wedding, and our corporation has hired World Port for holiday and retirement parties. Paul is on time, friendly with the audience, just very professional. So many employees come up to us and say, "Isn't his music easy to listen to!"

Jane Knaack-Esbeck, vice president of human resources, Hy-Vee, Inc., Des Moines

“There was just always something missing, but we found it. After 20 years, YWCA's annual Women of Achievement Award Ceremonies added the delightful music of World Port and Paul Micich to its program. These musicians gave a festive, energizing, welcoming and decidedly unique tone to this large event. We never want to do it without them.”

Mary Brubaker, Co-Chair, Women of Achievement Luncheon, YWCA of Greater Des Moines

“Paul's music added a festive, but not over powering, tone to our event. People were able to visit with one another, without raising their voices. Others simply enjoyed sitting back and listening to World Port's unique sound. I highly recommend World Port and enjoy listening to their CD at home and work.”

Pam Carmichael, Executive Director, HOME, Inc., a non-profit organization that creates affordable housing opportunities for low-income people

“Great music plus great spirit with unique compositions and technical expertise translates into Paul Micich and World Port. Their concert made an exceptional Metro Arts' 2001 Jazz in July event hosted by Generations Incorporated.”

Maribel Slinde, Executive Director, Generations Incorporated, a private, non-profit home health and human service agency _

"Selecting entertainment for our holiday party seemed a simple task — World Port. People are still raving about the performance. Paul Micich may become a permanent staple for all of our functions. The beautiful sound of his unique music is soothing to anyone's soul. In fact, he will be performing for our wedding this fall because we wanted only the best."
